BY MOLLIE RUNCORN.

OUT-OF-TOWN visitors have claimed general attention the past week, and although no large events have taken place, the numerous smaller affairs have been especially enjoyable, bringing together many long time friends in a delightfully informal manner.

One of the most appreciated guests has been Mrs. J. Jessup, of Eugene, who, owing to her former residence here, is being shown numerous attentions by her many friends. Mrs. B. K. Lawson's bridge yesterday complimented her sister Mrs. Vernon A. Leach, another charming summer visitor from Redlands, Cal.

Mrs. Stanley Morgan (Miss Marguerite Wilson) who with her husband is stopping here from Chicago, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, has been the inspiration for several little informal affairs, and will be noticed with other attentions during the remaining two weeks which she will spend in Salem, leaving then to join her husband in Los Angeles, where they will reside, Mr. Morgan leaving for the California City Monday.

Miss Helene Schober, Mrs. David Eyles' house guest from Seattle, is also sharing in the informal compliments. She will leave with the Eyles shortly for the beach, and after their return there will be appreciated by several matrons as a motif for their entertainments.

Making all too brief a stay will be Mrs. A. B. Croshaw and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Sinclair, (Lillian Croshaw), and Mrs. Alice M. Crane, of Portland, who will arrive in Salem tonight to be the week-end guests of the W. C. Knights and Mrs. E. E. Waters. The Ernest Hofers and other long time Salem friends will also claim them for a few hours during their brief stay.

In a beautiful floral setting Miss Beulah Morie Clark became the bride of Maurice Luke Bullock. Tuesday night at a lovely home wedding. The ceremony was solemnized by Dr. James Moore, district superintendent of the First Methodist church, who used a double ring service. There were no attendants. The bride who is unusually attractive was lovely in her robe of white satin, made with a long train, and elaborated with handsome heavily embroidered ornaments. The arrangement of her long tulle veil formed a Juliet cap held in place by tiny white rose buds. She carried a large arbut of snowy carnations, and asparagus fern, which was later caught by Miss Iza Constable.

After the ceremony Miss Mildred Clark, and Miss Ida Anderson served the cakes and ice. A charming arrangement developed by R. M. Little, who used for a background an immense screen of pink and white chiffon combined with pink carnations, surrounding which in striking color contrast was quantities of ivy and wood-land fern. Ferns and ivy banked the improvised altar, on each side of which stood tall white pedestals, bearing handsome pink satin rose-decked shades. The other electric globes about the room were also enlivened with shades of the same tint, diffusing a delicate roseate hue. Bowls of asparagus fern, pink and white sweet peas, and hydrangeas completed the decorations of the room. Garlands of asparagus fern were used in the dining room, the color touch being added by a great

She Bought Every One of the Berries.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Little Huckleberry Pickers Have a Party.

It had been a very hot day, and it was all any one could do to keep cool. "Is it too hot for a story tonight?" asked daddy. "Oh, no," said both the children. "It is never too hot for a story," added Jack. "Well, I really am very glad that," continued daddy, "because I know I would be very lonely if I couldn't tell a story every night. I think I enjoy it as much as you do because I never see anything that is interesting nor hear of anything that is interesting that I don't immediately think—well, I can tell Jack and Evelyn all about this. "Today I passed by a house and heard some little children talking to some other children who looked very ragged, hot and tired. "These children had been picking huckleberries and were going around this hot afternoon trying to sell them. "They had stopped by this house where they had seen the little children playing. The mother of the little children had gone out for the afternoon, but they were having a party with a few of their little friends. "They told the little poor children that they didn't have any money at all to buy the berries with, but they asked them to stay and play with them and that they were sure when their mother came home she would buy all the berries. "The children could not resist the invitation. They sat down and had some lemonade and sponge cake, and oh, it did seem so good after the hot tramp they had made looking for the berries. After they had had all the lemonade and sponge cake that they could possibly eat they all went wading in a little brook back of the house. They did so enjoy the lovely, cool water, and when the mother came home, there she found her children entertaining the little poor children. "Of course she bought every one of the huckleberries, which pleased the little children so much. "But what pleased them still more was that the mother added that if they came that way every day she would like to buy huckleberries of them, for her family was so fond of them. "And then you can imagine how they rejoiced when the children who had been so kind to them said: "Yes, and if mother isn't home when you come we can have another party just as we did today. "So they refreshed and made happy the little tired, hot children who have to earn money by picking berries for hours every day in the hot sun and then go around selling them. And not only that, but they gave them something to look forward to."

AN attractive afternoon affair yesterday was the auction bridge which Mrs. B. K. Lawson gave at her home on East State street, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Vernon A. Leach, who is her house guest from Redlands, Cal. The rooms where the guests were entertained were artistically decorated with quantities of golden-hearted Shasta daisies and asparagus fern. The scene ended, small yellow-tinted daffodils, perfect the yellow and white color effect. Sixteen friends of Mrs. Lawson were asked to meet her sister, Miss Cora Talkington assisting in their entertainment.

High score at cards was awarded to Mrs. Paul Schmidt.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fleming and Mrs. L. K. Page were among the Salem people departing for Newport this morning, where they will enjoy an outing.

A pre-nuptial attention for Miss Beulah Clark, whose marriage was an event of Tuesday, was the kitchen shower given by the Misses Heist at their attractive North Commercial street home.

Furnishing lovely surroundings for the guests were the decorations which were carried out in red. Hearts formed portieres screening the openings bedecked with other attentions during the ous places and alternated with tiny cupid which were suspended from the chandeliers. Poppies and geraniums lent their brilliant-hued coloring, and the nuptial color motif was also noted in the brick ices, centered with red hearts, and in the cake which also displayed miniature hearts.

Hemming linen articles, collecting of receipts into "Good Housekeeping for Pastor's Wife" volume, with a novel contest in which Miss Constable found the ring, Miss Smith the thimble, and the bride-elect found a picture of the bridegroom-elect in a cozy seat in the grape arbor, were used to pass the hours, Miss Clark discovering her numerous useful gifts in the latter place.

The guests were: Theodosia Bennett, Hattie Beekley Bellinger, Nora Emmel Thompson, Elva Smith, Grace Smith, Ethel Casere, Nellie Casere, Winnifred Rigdon-Clarke, Leila Rigdon, Isa Constable, Margaret Graham, Stella Graham, Mrs. Gaylord H. Patterson, Mrs. Morton E. Peck, Annie Pigler Woods, Mary Pigler, Frances Phole Uter, Mrs. Charles Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Clark presided at an informal evening affair yesterday at their country place north of Salem. Their guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark, daughter Maxine, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Desart, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rulison, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. Nellie Knox, Mrs. Fred Prince and daughter Mildred.

The annual picnic of the First Congregational church took place Wednesday, and was enjoyed by about one hundred members of the Sunday school and church. Luncheon and autos were secured to convey the merry groups to their objective point, making numerous trips to a lovely picturesque spot two miles down the river on the Hon. George W. Weeks country place. Every out-door pastime was enjoyed, the younger members participating in games, swimming and contests under the direction of Secretary O. B. Gingrich of the Y. W. C. A. A picnic luncheon completing an affair thoroughly delightful in every detail.

Those who were present were: Edna Ackerman, Evaline Gibbs, Amelia Babcock, Grace Farrar, Edith Parker, Nellie Carden, Isabel George, Edith Byron, Mary E. The Dr. D. J. Frys are enjoying the scenic wonders of the Yellowstone national park, and are expected to arrive in Salem the latter part of next week.

Mrs. Anna B. Hofer, accompanied by her daughters Marie and Dorothy, and Miss Annie Fisher, left for Bay Ocean Friday, and will remain there for a two weeks' outing.

Mr. and Mrs. George Riches have returned from a two weeks' outing, spent with Mrs. Riches' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McCorkle, who have a beautiful summer residence at Neskevin.

Pupils of Mrs. W. A. Denton gave a very delightful recital Friday afternoon at the studio, 148 North Twelfth street. The program was given by pupils from the different grades, each number being greatly enjoyed, the pupils entering into the spirit of their numbers.

Among the younger ones who showed marked progress were Bessie Wittzell and Florence Elgin. Grace McCall is becoming a favorite with her hearers. Mildred Brunk rendered "An Invitation to Dance," by Weber, exceptionally well. Those taking part were: Blondel Carleton, Albert Lachelle, Bessie Wittzell, Florence Elgin, Frances Hodges, Mary Hall, Leila Cookingham, Arta Jones, Ethel Schwartz, Grace McCall, Mildred Brunk.

CIRCLING Mrs. Frank Spears' table Wednesday was Miss Paula Linn, Miss Carolyn Dick, Miss Veola Cross, Miss Margaret Rodgers, Miss Ila Spaulding and Miss Nell Thielson. Mrs. Spears entertaining with a lovely appointed 1 o'clock luncheon in honor of the two former maids, in celebration of their birthdays, which occur only a few weeks apart, and whose ages are the same.

Red candles in attractive holders lighted the table, which was further beautified with decorations of red sweet peas and maiden-hair fern, these being also used as a decking for the different rooms.

Following the luncheon, the younger guests were joined by Mrs. P. A. W. Holt, Mrs. C. L. Dick, Mrs. J. R. Linn and Mrs. Russell Catlin, forming in groups about the card tables. The afternoon was spent with "500."

Enjoyable in every detail was the "Mid-Summer Good Time" social given by the members of the Epworth League of the First Methodist church, which was held Wednesday evening on the spacious lawn surrounding the Simon Heist residence on North Commercial street.

Electric lights illuminated the grounds, quaint Japanese lanterns adding a picturesque detail. The guests congregated in groups, passing the hours with various games, participating in croquet, Rook, Jenkins Pinch and other outdoor pastimes.

Later refreshments were served by Miss Lottie Pease, Miss Grace Thompson, Miss Evelyn Reigleman and Miss Lulu Heist.

Those present were: Misses Genevieve Avison, Sadie Boughy, Mabel Boughy, Christenson, Ruth Field, Margaret Fisher, Inez Galtra, Norma Harper, Marie Lathy, Gladys Luthy, Maybelle Mason, Elsie Mason, Lottie Lee, Penn, Evelyn Reigleman, Fannie Solomon, Eva Scott, Clara Schanze, Mildred Simons, Grace Smith, Grace Thompson, Toole, Lou Hatch, Elva Smith, Alice Hatch, Margaret Graaun, Cox, Mary Findley, Ruth Wells, Bernice Rice, Lulu Poole, Ruth Spoor, Lavina Anderson, Grace Allen, Edna Newberry, Myrtle Richardson, Leona Smith, Lina Heist, Lulu Heist, Laura Heist, Paragonian Moore, Frank Davidson, George Hatch, Welly Hammond, Howard Lewett, Guy McCarty, Emmel Wesley Todd, Barber, A. Mrs. C. E. Albin entertained a number of small folk Monday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock, in honor of her son, Guy's, tenth birthday.

The hours were spent in outdoor games in Marion Square park, where a swing had been erected to add to the entertainment.

The small guests located their places at the table by finding their names upon the napkins. The centerpiece was a large glass bowl filled with nasturtiums in which 10 small candles were burning. A great deal of mirth ensued while Master Guy, from the head of the table, extinguished the representatives of the bygone years.

Light refreshments were served, Miss Florence Burnap, of Corvallis, Mrs. J. P. Davis, Mrs. S. E. Peck and Mrs. W. H. Sellwood assisting.

The honor guest was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

The guests were: Misses Ruth Peck, Helms Vreck, Violet Parry, Leola, Barnett, Lela Shultz, Pearl Sellwood, Gladys Albin, Masters Harry Marshall, Evan Reid, Vernon and Kenneth Perry, Ellis Hurst and Floyd Albin.

Those comprising the party were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Siddall, Miss Hansen, Miss Mildred Hawthorne, Miss Mary Henningson, Miss Anna Barr, Miss Marie Hovelson, the Misses Florence and Inez Weidner, Miss Mary Shetley, Mrs. Lillian Spaulding and the Misses Alice, Maud and Jennie Hollister.

The marriage of Miss Jennie E. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Smith, to Roy R. Brown, of Independence, Ore., is of general interest here.

The bride wore a pink silk gown, carrying a large bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Brown is a graduate of the business college in Salem.

After a brief honeymoon trip the young couple will reside on South Commercial street.

Ten members of the Thursday Afternoon bridge club motored to the R. P. Boise country place at Richwood yesterday, where the Boises, with their son Breyman, and Mrs. M. E. Breyman, are spending the summer. Their arrival being unannounced, occasioned a delightful surprise.

Mrs. Sebä Case Wall left for Portland today to be the week-end guest of friends.
